The Merchants' Association Needs You and You Need the Association!

 34°

THE MERCHANTS' ASSOCIATION is now celebrating its 25th Anniversary, but the event is not so much an anniversary of age as an anniversary of achievement. The Merchants' Association of New York has made good, and that is why it is time for more merchants to make good by joining it. At present there are many institutions enjoying the benefits of the Association's activities without sharing the responsibilities of membership, and it is this condition which the Association now seeks to overcome. It needs your support to improve its work in the future, and it points to a splendid record to prove its work in the past. An active campaign for new members starts this week, and we respectfully urge you to JOIN!

Curious on Ship's Deck

"Tiger" Naps as Photographers Prowl About Ship in Ef-forts to "Snap" Him

ABOARD THE STEAMSHIP PARIS. EN ROUTE TO NEW YORK, Nov. 12 By Wireless to The Associated Press). -Clemenceau disappointed the pas sengers aboard the Paris his first day out by keeping to the seclusion of his cabin, but this morning at 8 c'clock he appeared on deck, heavily wrapped in an ulster, with his cap at a rakish angle, and promenaded alone several times around at a brisk pace; then seated himself while the captain conversed with him for a time.

Most of the passengers arose early to see the "Tiger of France," some of them emerging from their quarters as early as 5 o'clock in the morning, but their patience was rewarded by only occasional glimpses. There was a atrong demand on the chief steward last night for seats in the dining saloon as near as possible to the captain's table, where France's war Premier has a place, but hopes were disappointed.

Scores of amateur photographers searched the decks all yesterday unavailingly, and as the liner passed the water iront, after leaving port, the crowds cheered, but the "Tiger" was already at work in his cabin. At Plymouth, the first words of the passengers coming on there were: "Is Clemenceau aboard?" and the answer in several cases was: "We are not sure."

sure."

To-day Clemenceau had luncheon in the saloen. He was in jovial mood and apparently greatly amused his companions at the captain's table. Eager eyes were upon him from all the other tables, and there seemed to be an endeavor to finish the meal when he did so that close watch could be kept on him. The "Tiger," however, slipped out quietly and was off for a nep.

Recently a depositor was exchanging some temporary certificates for definitive bonds.

"What do you think of these bonds?" he asked the teller at the window, adding: "I missed an important engagement to come over here to attend to this matter."

He was surprised when the teller told him that the Safe-Keeping Department, on the same floor, could have saved him the time and trouble of exchanging his temporary certificates for definitive bonds; and that in the Bond Department-just a few floors above-he could obtain an expert's opinion of his investment.

Comparatively few bank depositors, as they stand before a teller's window, realize the many ways in which their banks are able to be of helpful and convenient service.
